Welcome to Health On Track!

Whether you are a student, employee or faculty member, health requirements allow Yale to support a safe and healthy environment for everyone who lives and/or works on campus. You are here because health requirements have been assigned to you.

Health requirements may include vaccinations, tests or examinations and vary depending on your role at Yale. They may be related to safety or labor laws, or university policies. Through Health On Track, you may view your requirements, see how to complete them, and submit documentation as needed.

Health On Track was developed and is managed by Yale Campus Health, Employee Health, Student Health, and Information Technology.

If you DO NOT have any health requirements:

If you do not have any health requirements, after you successfully authenticate with your NetID you will receive a notice “No health requirements found” Only people with active health requirements or who supervise people with health requirements will be able to log in.

If you believe you have health requirements but receive this single message anyway, please contact the support team to confirm: campus.health.systems@yale.edu
